A message from Commissioner Billy Ray Smith

To All Consumers:

“Aquaculture” may still be a new word to some, but more and more are recognizing its important meaning for 21st Century Kentucky agriculture.

---

As the search goes on for new areas of opportunity, one of the most exciting possibilities is aquaculture. It’s a new concept to the tradition-bound, but it’s beginning to prove its worth.

---

Kentucky already has a thriving industry producing sport fish for pond stocking, trout and catfish. You may have already heard of the excellent quality of Kentucky-raised freshwater shrimp, paddlefish, largemouth bass and other promising breeds.

---

Our abundant water resources, the high quality of our farm-raised fish and shellfish, and the health advantages of fish in the diet all are playing a part in the success of Kentucky aquaculture.

We think producers, suppliers, buyers, operators, and consumers will agree that the Commonwealth’s success in aquaculture is one “fish story”that’s actually true.

Permits Overview

Regulatory Considerations

(adapted from the Kentucky Aquaculture Plan)

In establishing an aquaculture enterprise, there are several regulatory considerations. There are different permit requirements depending on the type of enterprise.

Pond Construction Permits

- May require local zoning and business permits.
- Check with NRCS to determine whether land is classified as wetlands.
- If land is a wetland, contact the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for a wetland construction permit.
- Pond construction permit is needed if pond is in a flood plain. Contact NRCS for a permit application.
- If more than five acres are disturbed for pond construction, a stormwater permit for construction activity is required during construction.
Contact Division of Water, Natural Resources & Environmental Protection Cabinet.

Water Withdrawal

- No permit is required for agriculture use (KRS 151.140).

Aquaculture Production

- Contact Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Fisheries.
- Commercial Propagation Permit is required. This permit covers production, selling and transporting of all endemic species (natural to Kentucky) fish, frogs, crayfish, and other aquatic organisms. Seines larger than 10 feet are covered under this permit.
- Most exotic species are not permitted for commercial production, and no fish or other aquatic organism may be raised in public waters
- Non-native species such as grass carp and aquarium species other than those listed in 301 KAR 1:130 Section 3 may not be imported, possessed, and sold unless approved by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Fisheries.

Water Discharge Permit

- Contact Natural Resources & Environmental Protection Cabinet, Division of Waste Management.
- 401 KAR 5:60(11) requires a discharge permit for aquaculture water if more than 5,000 pounds a month of feed is used or if more than 100,000 pounds of warm water or 20,000 pounds of cold water of animals are raised.

This affects only concentrated aquatic animal production facilities.

- If a pond is to be drained for harvest, a one-time discharge permit will be issued by the Division of Water's regional office.

Pay Lake

- Contact Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Water.
- A pay lake operation license is required if:
- The pond is stocked at least twice annually with at least 500 pounds of adult fish per surface acre, and
- The pay lake issues fishing permits to patrons.
- If the lake does not distribute fishing permits to patrons, each person must have Kentucky fishing license.
- Retail operations may fall under other business licensing requirements. Contact the Business Information Clearinghouse for more information.

Live Hauler

- Contact Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. A transportation permit is required to haul any live aquatic organism. A permit for the species being hauled is issued.
- Retail operations may fall under other business licensing requirements. Contact the Business Information Clearinghouse for more information.

Bait Shop

- Contact Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources for a live fish and bait dealers license, if selling live fish retail or wholesale.
- Retail operations you may fall under other business licensing requirements. Contact the Business Information Clearinghouse for more information.

Processing

- A producer can sell live or whole fish on ice without falling under processing requirements.
- Product sold in any other form is considered processing. Processing of seafood requires special permits, facilities, and considerations. Contact local health department for more information.

Prawns, crayfish, and shrimp — how do they differ?

Common names are used loosely and inconsistently in the shrimp family. The "prawn" of Great Britain and other countries is essentially the same animal as the shrimp of the United States. In this country, the term "shrimp" applies to all crustaceans of the Natantia group, regardless of size. "Crayfish" or "crawfish" are names given to both a common freshwater crustacean and to the saltwater spiny lobster.
